

Chaos

Chaos + dignity = virtue (Virtue is moral excellence of a person)

Chaos + innocence also = virtue

Virtue + chaos = intuition

Virtue + chaos = transmutation

Virtue + chaos = everything

“Virtue itself is offensive.” Friedrich Nietzsche

Experience teaches us that silence terrifies people the most.

When a pine needle falls in the forest, the eagle will see it, the deer will hear it and the bear will smell it. The more evolved human with intuition will see/hear and smell it. That human, will facilitate the pine needle to complete itself by encouraging it to fulfill itself much like the Divine spark of creation encourages the human to fulfill itself amid chaos.

When individuals change, society will change, and when society changes the whole world will transform.

The fabric of nature(spirit) is made up of 3 qualities;

1. positive uplifting, moving towards clarity and awakening, and higher vibrations.
2. restlessness, or neutralizing tendencies.
3. negative or down-flowing tendencies leading to confusion, heaviness, or inertia.

Everything that is created here on earth is made up to some degree of these 3 tendencies. these qualities, merge, change, and interact like separate flavors in a pot of soup, each flavor vying for a spot that can be identified. this unique movement is what occurs within the “one field”, the one field being that single awareness which holds creation. the one field is the true reality for all creation.

You decide.

With the combination of the 3 tendencies, you have countless opportunities to mold and reshape your reality in any manner that you desire. in creating your reality you decide how much emphasis to give to the three qualities.
